

What's New Winter 2007/2008

- Olympic-sized SuperPipe: Tamarack Resort is making another big commitment to freeriding this winter, by building and maintaining a 22-foot Olympic-sized SuperPipe for the upcoming winter season. The truly 'Super' pipe will be one of only a half-dozen in North America to showcase the new Olympic standard—22-foot high walls. It will play host to Olympic and X-Games medalists when the U.S. Snowboarding Grand Prix returns for a second year on February 9-10, 2008.
- Named a Burton Learn to Ride Center: Tamarack and Burton have partnered to create Idaho's Premier Learn To Ride Center, which incorporates the right equipment with proven teaching methods to make learning to snowboard easy and fun for everyone. Tamarack's equipment for beginners is tailored by gender and age to maximize each individual's learning potential.
- Enhanced Snowmobile Operations: Tamarack has acquired the outfitting license to run its own snowmobiling operations this season. Leaving from the resort's 7700-foot summit, guests will have access to more than 350 miles of groomed trails in the Payette River Mountains, along with endless miles of backcountry terrain in the Boise and Payette National Forests. Guided tour options include:
 - Skyline Tour*—Explore groomed ridgetop trails showcasing high-mountain views, wildlife, and some of the best snow in the West.
 - Hot Springs Tour*—A full-day trip via snowmobile to Burgdorf Hot Springs to enjoy the soothing mineral waters, a full lunch, and a scenic tour of the backcountry.
- New Runs: Two new runs, Panorama and Wahoo – both intermediate, for a total of 41 marked runs on the Tamarack Mountain
- Special Olympics World Winter Games: The World Winter Games named Tamarack Resort site of the global competition's snowboard events for 2009. In February 2008 Tamarack will play host to the Special Olympics Invitational Games, which brings hundreds of athletes from around the world to Idaho to prepare for the World Games the following year.
- Resort Construction: Construction on the heart of the resort—Tamarack's Village Plaza—continues with the first three buildings set to open late summer 2008, and a grand opening of all six buildings anticipated winter 2008/2009.
- Real Estate: Following a seventh successful real estate release in the spring of 2007, the resort is gearing up for releasing residential condominiums in the under-construction Lodge at Osprey Meadows Lake Wing and Fairmont Tamarack in late 2007/early 2008.
- Lodging: This winter more than 130 luxury lodging units, ranging from studio condos to four-bedroom custom estate homes, are available for guests through Tamarack Lodging Services. The newest properties available for guest stays are located in the Whitewater Neighborhood, featuring ski-in/ski-out cottages, chalets and townhomes.
